

fib International Young Members Meeting

21-23 April, 2017

Madrid, Spain

Organized by

fib Spanish Young Members Group

There is no doubt that structural concrete plays a relevant role in construction industry. As cities' storyteller, it has been nurtured of improvements and innovations that allowed its use in buildings and structures over the years. Nowadays, structural concrete must follow its way by establishing alliances with other materials to improve its strength and aesthetics, as well as to fulfill new design criteria and requirements.

From the fib, we are encouraged to achieve this goal. We want to boost networking between young professionals of structural concrete, and create the "fib Young Members Group" as a dynamic and international internal branch, which holds the responsibility to bring structural concrete to the future through solid technical knowledge and creativity.

Join us and be part of it!
